Typ akcji: Korekta

11.04.2024

Szanowni Państwo,

Opis problemu Firma Baxter Healthcare Corporation wydaje korektę dotyczącą przewodów zasilających stosowanych z Cyfrowym urządzeniem do pomiaru ciśnienia tętniczego Connex ProBP 3400 firmy Welch Allyn i Aparatem do badania przesiewowego wzroku firmy Welch Allyn. Firma Baxter otrzymała zgłoszenia dotyczące problemu związanego z konstrukcją przewodu zasilającego, którego izolacja nie spełnia wymagań określonych w przepisach krajowych i międzynarodowych normach elektrycznych.

Aktualnie firma Baxter pracuje nad zastąpieniem dotychczasowych przewodów zasilających nowymi, które zostaną dostarczone wszystkim klientom, których dotyczy ten problem, jak tylko nowe przewody zasilające będą dostępne do dystrybucji.

Ryzyko

W przypadku przewodów zasilających niezgodnych z wymaganiami ryzyko jest minimalnie większe w porównaniu z przewodami spełniającymi wymagania. Przewody niespełniające wymagań są bardziej podatne na uszkodzenia fizyczne powstałe w czasie, ponieważ izolacja jest nieco cieńsza niż na przewodach spełniających wymagania. W przypadku kontaktu użytkownika z przewodem zasilającym posiadającym widoczne uszkodzenie, powstały uraz będzie najprawdopodobniej niewielki lub umiarkowany, taki jak dyskomfort, mrowienie lub niewielkie oparzenie; w rzadkich sytuacjach i w grupie użytkowników o podwyższonym ryzyku mogą wystąpić poważniejsze niekorzystne konsekwencje dla zdrowia. Firma Baxter nie otrzymała żadnych raportów o urazie u pacjenta związanym z tym potencjalnym problemem dotyczącym bezpieczeństwa.

Działania do podjęcia przez
użytkowników

Firma Baxter uprzejmie prosi o podjęcie następujących działań:

1. Sprawdzenie stanu przewodów zasilających. W przypadku zaobserwowania strzępienia lub innego uszkodzenia, użytkownicy powinni natychmiast wyrzucić przewód zasilający.
2. Profesjonalni użytkownicy służby zdrowia mogą kontynuować stosowanie przewodów zasilających, których dotyczy problem po sprawdzeniu ich stanu.
3. Profesjonalni użytkownicy służby zdrowia powinni regularnie sprawdzać stan przewodów zasilających w kierunku strzępienia lub innego uszkodzenia.
4. Jak tylko firma Baxter będzie posiadała nowe przewody zasilające, zostaną wysłane do Państwa dodatkowe instrukcje dotyczące zamawiania przewodów zasilających w celu ich wymiany.
